

Health & Safety

Law At Work's health & safety services have been designed to ensure our clients enjoy complete support which meets every need to comply with the complex and exacting requirements of health & safety law.

“ Law At Work has an exceptional health and safety service. It is enormously reassuring to know that our health and safety documentation is up to date and I can call upon an expert adviser for assistance at any time. ”

David Ingham,
Finance Director, jmarchitects.

Regardless of size, a company ignores health & safety issues at its peril! Dealing effectively with health & safety can be a major factor in the success or failure of a business. For heavy industry and manufacturing, such as construction, chemical processing and transport, the priority is self evident. But even for office environments, it is an important issue. As employers we have important responsibilities that range from ensuring the safety of pregnant women to checking that office equipment is working correctly.

What you can expect from our health & safety advisory service.

If our advisors can't answer your question there and then, they'll give you a timescale within which they will respond. You can also make inquiries by email, and we'll respond by no later than the next working day. We don't sit on the fence. We provide unambiguous advice on the legal position, and any action you have to take to ensure compliance. Where necessary, our team will provide you with written guidance, and sample forms and/or policies and procedures to plug the gap. Your health & safety is our business. We'll look after your health & safety risks, freeing you up to look after your business.

Law At Work health & safety services have been designed to meet all requirements and we work with our clients on a fixed fee basis. Our services fall into four categories:
